OUR STORY SO FAR

UK Road Tanker Inspection (UK RTI) was formed more than 30 years ago to help prevent failing road tankers. Our priority was the safety of our customers and we're proud that that continues to be the case all these years later.

We've worked hard since we were formed to embrace new ways of working, always putting our customers first and doing what we needed to, to meet their needs. Our innovative approach meant we were the first company to use gas testing for fuel tankers in the UK. And we're proud that we continue to lead the way in our industry.

PROUD TO BE PART OF THE BRITISH ENGINEERING SERVICES GROUP

We were delighted to join the British Engineering Services Group in 2019. The support of the wider business has helped ensure we can invest in a successful future, while also benefiting from the strong UK RTI reputation.

Our approach to risk management is so closely aligned to that of the British Engineering Services Group that our transition to their business was not only seamless, but continues to be a brilliant move for everyone involved.

As part of the Group, we're pleased to enjoy all of the benefits of an independent company, including fast and effective decision making based on the feedback of our customers, combined with the reassurance of a larger company.

OUR TEAM

We've really set the benchmark high when it comes to our people.

There's no doubt that our team is made up of the most technically skilled people in our industry. When it comes to road tanker inspections, there's nothing we don't know. We're experts when it comes to all of the relevant legislation, which means a partnership with us brings the peace of mind that we've got the safety of your road tankers covered.

Nigel Black has been leading our specialist team since 2021. He is extremely customer focused, working alongside our people and the wider Group to support our ongoing growth.

Nigel initially joined UK RTI in 2019 as Technical Manager and is already a driving force in helping make sure our customers leave nothing to chance, with the very best road tanker inspection services.

OUR CUSTOMERS

We love working with people that take risk as seriously as we do. We work with customers of all sizes based all over the UK. From regular testing to one off projects, we really know our stuff.

We're proud to have strong customer retention rates and J E Lawrence, fuel distribution company, is a great example of this. At UK RTI, we've been supporting the company with their tanker inspections for more than five years. Working with a reliable provider that will keep disruption to a minimum is a priority for JE Lawrence and they're happy to get just that from our team of experts.

"UK RTI do a great job. They're flexible, suggest areas of improvement and just get the job done. We're out in the countryside and not always easy to get to, but the engineers never let us down," said Richard Boyes, JE Lawrence.
